

ANIMAL LOCOMOTION

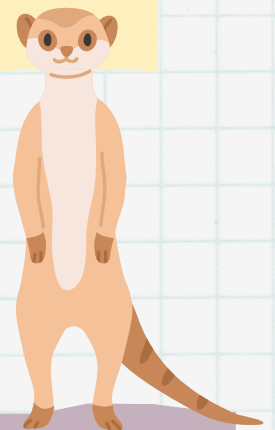

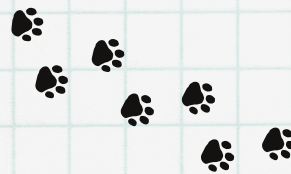

The snake, without legs, moves using its abdominal _____.

When chickens, birds that cannot fly high, jump onto platforms at different heights, they flap their _____ to help them move.

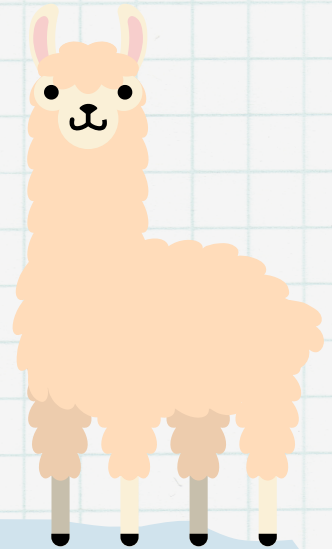

Parrots fly with their wings while keeping their body _____ to the ground which reduces air resistance.

The meerkat moves swiftly on its _____. It uses its sharp _____ for digging burrows and catching insects.

The Black-and-white ruffed lemur uses its long _____ to maintain balance while moving through the trees.

The alpaca's feet have a thick layer of _____, so they walk almost silently.

Raccoons have strong _____ for standing and their superbly grasping _____ for finding food.

The hooves of a pony have a hard, dark, _____ that makes a 'clippity-clop' sound when they walk.

