Taipei Yearbook 2023: Chronology of Events

6th The “2023 Taipei Lunar New Year Festival” was held in ten famous “Lunar New Year shopping districts,” including Dihua Street, Huayin Street, and the Taipei Station Wholesale Market, expanding the scope of festive cheer in the city. The theme of this year was “the Ritual of the Chinese New Year.” Simultaneously, online sales promotions were rolled out on online retail platform Shopee, and these were run until January 20.

1st As was done during the “2003 Taiwan Lantern Festival in Taipei,” the Taipei City Government Department of Civil Affairs and each district office jointly set up a “Twelve Districts Display Zone” that drew 3,117,351 visitors. A highlight of the festival was the Fount of Light Display Zone, which featured artistic cocreation workshops in which first-generation and second-generation immigrants created lanterns celebrating cultural diversity. The festival also included many live performances, and two display zones were platinum and gold winners of the “Muse Creative Award” in the Event category.

1st The “2003 Taiwan Lantern Festival in Taipei” ran from February 1 to 19, with the first five days being a soft opening. Exhibits were installed all around the city at notable sites, including Taipei City Hall, Sun Yat-Sen Memorial Hall, Songshan Cultural Park, Taipei 101, Four Four South Village, Xinyi Shopping District, and Taipei Eastern District. The festival was attended by 12,357,162 visitors with reported satisfaction exceeding 94%.

5th During the “2023 Taiwan Lantern Festival in Taipei,” the Secretariat received 12 delegations (totaling 73 people) from sister and friendly cities around the world.
