GUIDE TO THE ONLINE APPLICATION

We are very pleased that you are interested in studying at Heidelberg University. The guide will provide you with helpful information for completing the online application for the selection procedure or the entrance examination. It offers tips and details on how to apply for the first semester of study.

APPLICATION-HEIDELBERG

Selection of Candidates

Applications will be reviewed by a committee of scientists participating in the MCB Major. Candidates will be selected in two steps:

First step is on the basis of the documents you have send:

- academic qualifications as stated in the application documents and statement of purpose

If this seems to fit the program, we will invite you to the second step of the selection:

- an interview (usually beginning of May)
- plus a multiple choice test on the day of the interview

Appropriate background knowledge is essential for you to be able to understand the lectures in the first semester. This will be tested in a multiple choice test at the interview. The test is a bit like the GRE and includes molecular biology, chemistry, biochemistry and cell biology aspects. We do not supply further information about the test, and it is by no means the only criterion that we use. We are simply looking to see if you have approximately the knowledge that is required to start with the program. Interviews are in person or, if that is not possible, by Skype. During the interview we will focus on your motivation to study here in Heidelberg, but you should also be able to tell about your research experiences so far.

Inquiry of lab rotation (Chao Tsu-Yang, MCB)

Heidelberg 1st Summer x

Dear Dr. Lindner,

I am Chao TsuYang, a first-year MCB student at Heidelberg University.

It was really thrilling listening to your research on B-cells and your future work on T-cell-antigen/APC interaction.

The purpose of this letter is to inquire about the opportunity to start a lab rotation in your team.

I have been interested in immunology for a very long time now, especially for adaptive immunology response. In my opinion, this is the most effective way to cure human diseases. Mysterious but fascinating

I did my bachelor in Taiwan and joined the research group of Dr. Liao which has been working on therapeutic antibody targeting tumor in my sophomore year. It was there where my interest in immunology arose. One of my previous research topics was focused on the effect of the antibody on gastric cancer. After graduation, I worked in the Kaohsiung Medical University as a research assistant, this working experiences made me a bit different from others. I started to study immunotoxicity of drug to T cell development for a year. This was very similar to what you have done as I also shifted my research from B-cells to T-cells

It wasn't easy to combine the demands of industry with academic research, but I believe it is BioMedX where I might have the chance to learn how to work at the interface of both. There are so many uncontrollable factors while building up a stable immunological platform. The rapid

多爭取機會 (打工 Hiwi)

Last, regarding the master thesis, I would like to ask if there is a chance to get paid or a Hiwi contract during the master thesis period? It would be nice because I am now applying for the extension of the study VISA due to the COVID issue. If not, I will probably try to find a Hiwi and do it in my free time. However, I am still willing to stay in the lab for the thesis for sure.

Have a lovely weekend.

Regards,
Spencer
