

Dear friends
★★ you are invited to ★★ the Tianmu Party!

In spring, when shoots are waving over the tops of trees, Tianmu is like a young girl with light makeup, full of smiles; In summer, when the sun is hanging over the sky, Tianmu is like a young boy with passion, handsome and youthful; In autumn, when the Golden Rain Trees are blooming along the streets, Tianmu is dressed as a glamorous magician, energetic and attractive;

At the end of October, When the introduction is blowing, all the saints and souls are staging, Carrying sweet candies, we are digest our dreams, Melted into the sweet flavor of the beginning of winter, and Tianmu is sharing all of these with you!

All the best,
Your passionate friends from Tianmu

★★ Jacko Chiang Talks about Tianmu ★★

Jacko Chiang's feast of Tianmu

It is said that there was a Japanese man who built a Japanese temple near what is now Lane 191, Sec. 7, Zhongshan N. Rd. The temple was called the Tianmu Temple, where Tianmu (Mazu and the Japanese Sun-Goddess) were worshipped (tian = "heaven"; mu = "mother"). This is one of a number of commonly told origin stories about Tianmu. From that point on, Tianmu began drawing Japanese merchants and restaurants and Japanese people became the first new residents of the area. In the 1950s, the Tianmu area became a major residential enclave for US military personnel stationed in Taiwan. Numerous American-style buildings appeared in Tianmu and American cuisine became a new food option.

Some Taiwanese people helped to clean and cook for the US military families and they became the messengers of American cuisine and desserts in Tianmu. With the establishment of the Taipei American School, Taipei Japanese School, and Taipei European School, more foreigners congregated in the area. In addition, countries that have diplomatic relationships with Taiwan also sent their foreign ambassadors to Tianmu, making it seem like a miniature melting pot with a richly diverse population.

Born in Taipei city, the famous DJ Jacko Chiang emigrated to the US when he was a child. Chiang (蔣偉文) is known as a talented cook. He says that walking on the streets of Tianmu is a familiar feeling. With its diversity of residents, the pace is cozier and slower than other areas of Taipei. Strollers can just walk into any one of the stylish coffee shops, order a cup of coffee, and bathe in the fragrance of the coffee. There are innumerable options in Tianmu for dating. For example, any time is good for a fresh and delicious brunch. Shops full of sweets and pastries are highly recommended for an afternoon tea date. Tianmu's gourmet bistros , Japanese restaurants, and vegetarian eateries are perfect for a lunch or dinner date.

From the area around the Tianmu traffic circle to Section 7 of Zhongshan N. Road, there are many American-style fashion shops, and a flea market is may also be found on the weekends. Tianmu's abundance of businesses and shops can fulfill every need. For example, take a course in metalworking and surprise a loved one with the gift of a creative and unique ring. Department stores abound, including DAYEH Takashimaya (大葉高島屋), Shin Kong Mitsukoshi Tianmu Branch (新光三越天母店) and Pacific SOGO Tianmu Branch (太平洋崇光百貨天母店). Every kind of entertainment is available here.

Shaped by its multiplicity of foreign cultures, Tianmu boasts a large number of art and creativity establishments, including Teacher Maumau's Creative Center (毛毛老師生活應用創意操作中心), the Children's Art Museum in Taipei (蘇荷兒童美術館) and Ho Lo Fang Formosan Puppet Art (河洛坊古典布袋戲偶推廣中心). These creative places allow children to learn more about aesthetics and creativity from playing games and making things. Who would not love a place like Tianmu, a place full of different cultures and a wonderful playground, a fertile ground for fostering children's

Featured Scenic Spots

✿ Huang Xi Bridge Riverbank Trail ✿

Along Tianmu W. Rd., Taipei City

Huang Xi Creek is a stream originating from Mt. Qi Xing. It flows through underground hot springs, absorbing sulfur and iron. That is the reason why the stream bed has a unique and beautiful golden color. On the riverbanks, there are parks and sports fields for every activity. The riverbank scenery changes with the seasons.

✿ Tianmu Park ✿

End of Sec. 7, Zhongshan N. Rd., Taipei City

Tianmu Park was built along the trend of the ridges in the area. The Huang Xi Creek flows through it. When tourists are walking in the park, they can hear the lovely sound of water in the stream. A flower bed is located right at the entrance of the park. The flower bed provides flowers to parks in the Shilin and Tianmu areas. Tianmu Park is a quiet, cozy place for urban travelers.

✿ Fan Zi Jing ✿ (番仔井或番井沸泉 “aboriginal well”)

Tianhe Park

Located in Tianhe Park, not far from the Tianmu shopping area, is an ancient well called Fan Jing (“aboriginal well”). This well has been there for more than 300 years, yet its water quality remains excellent. In 2009, the Cultural Affairs Department of the Taipei City government defined it as an historical site to protect it.

✿ Tianmu Historic Trail ✿

End of Ln. 232, Sec. 7, Zhongshan N. Rd., Taipei City (entrance of Tianmu Pipeline Trail)

Tianmu Historic Trail is around 2.5 kilometers long. It connects the Tianmu area to Chinese Culture University. The trail connects to several subtrails, including the Pipeline Trail, the Emerald Peak Waterfall Trail, and other trails where hikers can look out over the Guandu Plain and the valley of Mt. Shamaoshan. These trails, with their superb natural resources, attract hikers of all ages. They are cozy and fun for children as well.

✿ Tianmu White House ✿ (Former U.S. Military Advisers' Residence)

No. 23, Ln. 181, Sec. 7, Zhongshan N. Rd., Taipei City

Tianmu White House was built during the 1950's when U.S. Military advisers were living in Taiwan. The name Tianmu White House comes from its white weatherboards. The house is designed as a bungalow with white walls and black roof tiles, a very American suburban look. Tianmu White House has been designated a Taipei City historical site..

✿ Tianmu Halloween Carnival ✿

The Tianmu Halloween Carnival is spread across the entire area of Tianmu, including Tianmu Square, the entrance of Lane 8, Tianmu E. Rd., the entrance of Sec. 7, Zhongshan N. Rd., and the square in front of the Tianmu Baseball Stadium.

In 2009, Tianmu had its 1st Annual Halloween Night Carnival. It was a great success, with around 80,000 people attending. In 2010, the 2nd Annual Halloween Carnival had an even greater scope. The entire suburb of Tianmu was dubbed a "Magic Castle", attracting even more people. In 2011, the 3rd Annual Halloween Carnival brought in even larger crowds to join the crazy partying.

As Considerate As A Mother Lollypop ★★ Restaurant ★★

Offering a rich array of dishes, Lollypop is brightly-lit, with an open play ground for kids.

Miss Lai, the owner, manages Lollypop from a mother's point of view and creates a restaurant whose dishes are delicious and healthy, loved by both parents and children. Lollypop's french fries, a perfect side dish with appetizers, mushroom cheeseburgers, or the smoked ham and cheese sandwich, are highly recommended. Fried Mozzarella cheese is served al dente while salads dressed with different vinaigrettes provide fresh new tastes.

Lollypop is concerned about the freshness of ingredients, and they make all the creative, fresh dressings in house. All dishes can be prepared as the customer requires.

Homemade Dishes Can Be Special

Smiling Janet

★★ Restaurant ★★

The owner, a certified chef and baker, is from Hualien County. The core idea of the restaurant is to provide a good place for sharing delicious homemade-taste dishes.

Smiling Janet is not a restaurant with complex decors. It provides a feeling of being at home, so relaxing and cozy, a simple happiness.

Smiling Janet serves only Fuli Rice (one of the best types of rice, very popular with Japanese customers) and is deeply concerned with food safety and nutrition. MSG is not used in this restaurant. All dishes are freshly made. They also update their menu quite often to surprise their customers.

Authentic American and Mexican Cuisine

★★ Jake's Country Kitchen ★★

Mr. Dun-bi Luo began his career as a roustabout for a US army family. What made him become a professional American and Mexican cuisine cook is his enthusiasm for self-education. When he talks about his dishes, his passion for cooking and his strong personality are plain for all to see. He never stops learning new skills and new types of cooking to create new flavors. All his dishes are freshly made.

One of his most popular dishes is "Stuffed Steak". It is a whole piece of steak stuffed with onion slices fried with cheese and sauced with a mix of cream cheese and tequila. This marvelous arrangement of alcohol flavoring the steak is a big hit with foreign customers.

Master of Cheese Cake
A Place of Great Taste

★★ Tasters ★★

Tasters has been operating for more than thirty years in Tianmu. It is one of the area's best-known cheese cake shops. Ms. Feng-chu Yeh bought the shop from a foreigner when it was a bakery and later changed it into a cake shop. With the quality ingredients and rich flavor of her cakes, Tasters gained more and more customers, both locals and foreigners. Their best cheese cake is made without a drop of water, using cheese and fresh eggs. There is a secret weapon in it – some orange juice to give it a special texture. Another tip is to use imported digestive biscuits to replace flour. This gives their cheese cakes a rich, delicate, yet not too greasy flavor. Another important product is Boston Cream Pie, puffy with the proper fragrance of flour, milk and sugar. Great tastes and good ingredients have given Tasters its longstanding popularity.

Warm Broth

★★Phở (Vietnamese Noodle Soup)★★

The owner was initially familiar with western cooking. He encountered Vietnamese cuisine for the first time when he was studying in France. Later, in the US, he encountered Phở (Vietnamese Noodles) again. He has a strong preference for soup, so when he decided to run a noodle restaurant, he selected Phở as his theme.

Phở emphasizes broth. The owner improved it by giving it a lighter flavor created by stewing 8 hours with ox bones and seasoning it with a small amount of salt. The Chef's Select Phở is actually a Phở combo with beef tripe, beef shank, beef flexor tendon, honeycomb tripe, beef meat ball, and raw beef. The soup is also seasoned with Asian basil, lemon, chili, and mint. Another recommended dish is the Goi Cuon, shrimp spring rolls. Phở's happiness is its warm broth. Don't miss it.

Lucia's Café

Located among the silent lanes of Tianmu, Lucia's café has an open green yard which makes people feel free and easy. Their chairs are antique furniture from the UK and Belgium, and the atmosphere is as cozy as at home. All the dishes and coffee are made by the owner, Lucia. American and French brunches are as abundant and simple-flavored as what people make in the US or France. Lucia learned how to cook them when she was studying abroad. Her Banana Cake, brownies, and European biscuits are popular. All are handmade in the restaurant. Lucia recommends a cup of black coffee to go with them. Bonus services include free

Wi-fi access and no service fees. Lucia values warmth and friendliness more than selling food.

Chinchu Vegetarian Restaurant

Chinchu had been a non-vegetarian restaurant for 16 years before Mr. Yong-fu Lian changed it into a vegetarian restaurant two years ago, because of his religion. Now eating vegetarian is a low-carbon lifestyle that paces modern eco trends. Mr. Lian offers the flavors of northern Chinese cuisine, the spicy flavor of prickleyash peel oil and handmade flour-based foods. However he adds cross-border ingredients and seasonings to create new dishes. For example, his Loofah Gratin with XO Sauce, Miso Flavored Asparagus Rolled in Tofu Skin, and Red Curry Vegetables are far different from traditional Chinese vegetarian dishes, which are full of processed ingredients. Chinchu's policy is to use natural ingredients, fewer artificial additives, and fewer processed ingredients, to maintain the natural flavors. That's why their Vegetarian Steak is made from whole monkey head mushrooms, fresh and solidsolid.

Jenny HK ★★ Restaurant ★★

Located in a small lane of Tianmu, Jenny HK Restaurant provides HK style porridges, rice, noodles and Dim Sum. Starting at only NT$50, Jenny is quite affordable. All the dim sum dishes, steamed rice and cart noodles have genuine flavor. Their NT$50 Radish Cake is freshly made every morning using radish threads blended with HK Sausage in rice milk and steamed. The golden and crispy skin of a pan-fried radish cake spreads the fragrance of the radish and ham. Other recommended dishes are Steamed Beef Dumplings with Ginger and Green Onions, and Deep-fried Pork Dumplings. Jenny makes almost all the dishes fresh. The popular Steamed Rice w/Chicken and Mushrooms is made from steamed rice with bone-free chicken leg, mushrooms, and HK sausage. It has its own special sauce. Jenny told us their chicken dishes use chicken legs which are chewier, not astringent, and easy to eat because they have been boned. As for popular snacks, do not miss the Hot Pineapple Bun with Cold Butter, HK Milk Tea or HK Coffee Milk Tea. Her Salty Lemon with 7-Up is another HK style drink which is not common in Taiwan.

★★ Crêperie La Bretagne ★★

An azure-painted wooden building with a tiny green garden, located in a silent lane of Tianmu, Crêperie La Bretagne displays a cozy atmosphere. Yong Chun Wu was a retired bank clerk when he saw first this shop selling Brittany-style crepes. He was so interested in running a shop like it so he bought it and changed its name to Crêperie La Bretagne.

Crêperie La Bretagne continues to focus on making genuine Brittany-style crepes. The Brittany pancake is all about the thinness. There are two kinds of them: the crêpe made from flour, which is sweet, and the galette made from buckwheat which is salty. The authentic way to eat Brittany-style crepes is to pair them with cidre (apple cider). In addition to traditional flavors, Crêperie La Bretagne has also developed innovative dishes such as Mushrooms with Garlic sauce and Golden Banana with Ice Creams. These new flavors continue to delight the restaurants loyal customers.

★★ Xiao Gang Restaurant ★★

Xiao Gang specializes in Northern Chinese dishes. The owner maintains their traditional flavors while always creating surprises for customers. Many people love their authentic tastes and return over and over. Seniors will enjoy the comfortable environment in Xiao Gang, which looks traditional but contains many innovative elements. Both complex dishes and simple dishes are recommended here. Almost every table orders flour-based foods like Green Onion Pancake, Chinese Beef Rolls, or Loofah Dumplings. Other recommended dishes, including the Beijing Duck, are made fresh daily. Ready-made ingredients are not used, in order to satisfy their customers' demanding taste buds.

Another important dish is Pork with Pickled Cabbage Hot Pot. The pickled cabbage not only supporting the soft vegetable but provides a sweet flavor to the soup. Their Smoked Yellow Croaker is not so traditional: its flavor contains the aroma of tea.

Normally, the younger generation finds it hard to identify whether its taste is traditional or innovative. But who cares? Just enjoy the good food!

The owner Mr. Jen-he Zhang was a jewelry designer who had picked up know-how about running a restaurant when he was a student. That is why he bought the shop from one of his customers and started to operate it himself.

Yuan Wei Lu most important products are Red Beans and a variety of jellies in brown sugar water or shaved brown sugar ice, tofu puddings, and sweet drinks. Although these sweets sound traditional, Mr. Zhang makes them unique. He uses the aesthetics he learned in jewelry design to improve the images of both the sweets and the shop's décor. Colors extracted from natural ingredients are mixed with the glutinous rice balls: red fermented rice, sweet potato, purple rice, green tea powder, indigo, and taro. Thus, in a bowl of red bean soup can be seen colorful glutinous rice balls: red, yellow, purple, green, and blue. In addition to improving the look of the dishes, Mr. Zhang also changed the insides of his rice balls, stuffing them with flavors such as peanut and sesame. Satisfying both vision and taste, every bite is touching!

★★Qiao Zao Yakiniku Dinning Bar★★

Mr. Jun-xiong Zhang was running a paper shop when he traveled to Japan and fell in love with the Japanese dining bar restaurants on the Ginza. They were small Japanese bars and restaurants that made people feel very warm. About seven years ago, he combined the Japanese dining bar restaurant with Yakiniku (Japanese Grill) and established his restaurant, the Qiao Zao Yakiniku Dinning Bar. Before he opened the restaurant, he visited many Japanese cooking masters to learn their knowledge and skills, and now invites guest chefs to give advice. Qiao Zao emphasizes their ingredients. Although they do not have many meat items, all of them are Qiao Zao's select dishes. For instance, the Smoked Shishamo fish are imported from Japan. Qiao Zao uses US Choice Boneless Short Ribs. It also replaces the common BBQ bream chin with BBQ salmon. Come and enjoy the fresh ingredients grilled over a tender flame.

Nü Niang's ★★ Restaurant ★★

The cultural mosaic in Tianmu contains not only foreign cultures but also Taiwanese. Nü Niang's Restaurant (Red Lanterns) is one of the most outstanding traditional Taiwanese style restaurants. Ms. Jian, the owner, decorated the old house with traditional furniture and fixtures. The brick wall, the wooden windows, the wooden benches, and the traditional tablecloth with its colorful flower patterns, all evoke the old home on the farm, waiting for grandmother's home cooking. The environment is cozy and the Roadside Banquet style gourmet comforts people residing far away from their hometown.

Ms. Jian is proud of her restaurant since it has survived for more than 30 years in Tianmu. Important dishes include the fried eggs with preserved turnip, the traditional streaky pork stew, and the pork fat rice. Other recommended dishes include the pork feet tendon with bitter melon, steamed fish with bird lime tree seeds, and swordtip squid with garlic sauce. Featured machines and tools decorate the space, giving it a traditional atmosphere. There is a blowing machine, a stone mill, a phonograph, a bamboo cradle, a sewing machine, old photos of movie stars, and Tatung figurines. At the entrance there is a traditional grocery store, which can conjure up childhood memories.

Golden Formosa Restaurant

To step into the oriental and classic Golden Formosa Restaurant is to walk into the history of the hot springs area in Beitou. Tavern Food is played an important role in Beitou history, and one of the most renowned – was the Formosa Restaurant (蓬萊食堂). More than sixty years ago, Mr. Liang-zhi Chen was employed by a Japanese boss to be the chef in his Japanese restaurant. The restaurant was famous for its quality ingredients and characteristic flavors. Mr. Chen's oldest son, Mr. Fang-zong Chen, inherited his father's skills and continued the family tradition. He established Golden Formosa, which contains a complete record of his father's dishes and dedication. It is popular with legions of old customers. Bo-jui Chen was Mr. Fang-zong Chen's only son. He is now the 3rd generation owner. Bo-Jui Chen also inherited his skills from his father and is even more innovative in creating new dishes and flavors. Golden Formosa was once selected to receive a visiting president. Dedication to detail and skills is not easy. However, it is this spirit that gives the Golden Formosa the courage to challenge and pursue perfection. That is the legend which will be sung for a long time to come.

Gout Restaurant has been open in Tianmu for 6 years and moved to its current site for greater capacity. Although it changed its location, its customers kept increasing and it is even more popular than before.

Gout cooks each dish only after the order is placed. There are no half-done or ready to eat dishes. From sauces to deserts, they take painstaking care of all details. Their ingredients are fresh, delivered daily. Gout also plays fine music in its bright and elegant space. Their customers love to linger.

Gout is not far from Tianmu Elementary School. It also provides a specialized menu for the school, an alternative lunch option for local mothers.

Café in selects diverse single-origin coffees from all over the world and makes each cup of coffee using a siphon coffee maker. For coffee lovers, the best choice is to have a cup of coffee like this, without sugar and without milk, just black coffee. Her foreign customers' favorite is the cappuccino with cinnamon powder and fresh lemon skin threads, which offers a mellow coffee taste with a mix of fruity freshness. As Café in provides good-quality coffees at fair prices, it has attracted hordes of customers since its opening and now has good reputation for quality coffee.

Jolly Bakery has a feature very different from other bakeries: their breads have to be stored in the freezer. To many of their customers, the mist showing on the plastic packaging when the bread is taken out of the freezer means a guarantee of freshness. Jolly Bakery makes their bread with Kefir Grains for rising and their breads normally are basic instead of acid, so they will not cause indigestion. Their breads can be stored for a longer time: they are frozen as soon as they are taken out of the oven. They can be eaten right after being defrosted. There is no need to heat them again, yet the texture is like that of fresh-made breads, spongy and wet.

The owner Amy has three children and Jolly is the third. Jolly helps out in the bakery quite frequently and she says she loves the breads her mother makes, especially the best seller Multigrain Bread, an original flavor bread mixed with various nuts, raisins and pomelo skin. An old customer living in the US always buy more than twenty loaves before going back to the US.

Another addictive product is their garlic butter. Their Blueberry and Cream Bread should be eaten right after removing from the freezer. The bread is stuffed with blueberry jam and cream. Its cold, smooth texture is unique. Since it is a frozen product, it is not displayed on a shelf. Only the frequent customers knows it exists.

The restaurant's name Onion is because it is a common material in western cuisine. The boss kept working to improve the taste and provide their delicious meals at fair prices. Thus the legend of Onion was born.

The Italian Seafood Tomato Soup, available on the original menu, is a soup with seafoods such as shrimp, clam, fish, and squid cooked with fresh tomatoes, onions, and other spicy seasonings. The soup is simmer for a long time. The flavor is fresh, with a fruity sour taste. The Onion's most famous dish is the Molecular Cuisine Fillet Steak, ripened for a day and a night, then jolted with electricity to tenderize it. The surface will be a bit scorched but the inside will be tender and juicy. No wonder it won the champion Fillet Steak in the 2011 Taipei Cuisine Competition.

The creator of the museum, Ms. Qian-ling Lin, wished to advance the practical experience of art creation and to form correct recognition of art, ability to create, correct attitudes, and the habit of appreciating art. The Children's Art Museum was then established in 2003 after Ms. Lin returned from the Soho area of the USA. The principles of the museum are to provide a place where both adults and children who enjoy the fine arts can learn and build their ability to appreciate and create art. The museum teaches how to observe everything in life from lines and colors to evoke the initial creation and observation that all individuals have when they are children. It also teaches how to retrieve ingredients from life for creation.

Shining glass beans can be art works

★★ Jimles ★★

When Ms. Lian-qiong Lee began teaching people how to make glass bead pictures, she was teaching at one of the temporary booths in the Tianmu Creative (Weekend) Market. However some children were not able to make it at that time. She searched for a small place at Tianmu W. Road to provide her customers a space to complete their work at their own pace. Glass bead pictures is a form of art that involves sticking round glass beads onto a plain picture. When light hits the beans, the plain image becomes three dimensional. Making a glass bead picture is simple and repetitive. In the process of creating this artwork the maker will be trained in concentration, coordination, and heating. Using different bead colors and arrangements, each image will display a different effect under light. The beads Ms. Lee uses are crystal beads, which makes the work brighter and more energetic. She also provides a specialized patented bead pen which makes the process easier and more convenient.

Six young friends, all born after 1981, were so crazy about board games that they established a board game shop. Board Games are games played on a board or table. For example, the famous game Monopoly is a board game. There are about 200 kinds of board games in the shop, for multiple players and for children. These games can stimulate players to think when they play. More than a game, they are an education. The shop manager Mr. Bo-chen Li leads a team which includes his own older brother and his four junior-high classmates. There two scenarios customers can choose: hours and courses. Many parents bring their children and play together, or college classmates come and play all day long while enjoying hot dogs and snacks in the shop. Mr. Li is also involved with after-school activities with neighboring schools such as Shidong Elementary and Tianmu Elementary. He designs handouts and selects games the demand logic, strategy, math, and geometry. Their team has developed nearly thirty sets of teaching materials using board games.

Fashion Style|

Fashion trend for this year goes to Retro and Chic, which proclaim that the time for the personalization of fashion has arrived. Individualized features and styles dominates the fashion mainstream. Such looks include the London Boy look, a retro top and dress with a characteristic short coat, or a lace top with a khaki-colored pants or skirt.

Woolen overcoats, calico dresses, tight short jackets, houndstooth, and baby doll dresses are coming back again. Glamorous fur and camo looks are important elements as well. As for accessories and other details, delicate handmade textiles are emphasized this year. For example, handmade embroidery, embedded beads, and exquisite laces and frills show an aesthetic of elegance. The style combines both natural and elegant elements.

★★ Sharing is the most wonderful thing in life ★★

Time flies. It has been several years for TMDA (Tianmu Marketplace Development Association) and I in Tianmu. Each day when I see visitors and consumers coming from all over the world like migrating birds, I give praise to the wonderful relations we share and expect with each encounter.

It is said life is just like going to a party. For me, Tianmu is like a grand magic party. You can always come to search for an unexpected treasure in Tianmu Square on holidays. The array of shops is there whether it is sunny or raining.

It is the coziest leisure time in the city.

In the magic season starting from October,

Tianmu is covered with a mysterious veil, like a naughty girl teasing you for fun.

Interesting activities take place constantly and the laughs never stop.

If life is like a party, you must come to Tianmu to experience the flavor of it: a little bit sweet, a little bit elegant, and a little bit childlike.

Sincerely,

Di Tang

(Chairperson of Tianmu Marketplace Development Association)

Our Commitment ★★ to Customers ★★

- ❶ Store personnel should be sincere and quick to serve customers and create a comfortable dining environment.
- ❷ Stores should clearly know all origins of product supplies, and establish a monitoring system to ensure product quality.
- ❸ Stores should provide food and products that meet sanitary and safety standards.
- ❹ Stores should be honest to every customer and clearly mark prices and policy of service fees.
- ❺ Stores should provide complete systems of reservation, demands and supplies, and billing.
- ❻ Stores should provide clear and accurate receipts, listing product names, types, prices, or service items.
- ❼ Stores should provide employees specialized training and guidance with integrity.
- ❽ Stores should have means to collect consumer feedback and set up complaint handling system to deal with customer complaints quickly.
- ❾ Stores should clearly show policies of refund, exchange and after-sales service.
- ❿ During the purchasing process, stores should secure personal information of customers.
