

Public Art on the Zhonghe Line

Nanshijiao Station

Youth Melody

Artist: Tsun-Tsun Lai

Medium: Plexiglas, resin, neon light

Completion Date: November 1998

Location: Concourse level and platform level

Selection Method: Invitational competition

Cost: NT$4,999,000

"Youth Hill" is an old Taiwanese song. It describes the hard-working and carefree nature of the Taiwanese people, whose spirit reaches for freedom. Youth symbolizes passion and our common memory. Youth is a ferment of sweat, tears, warmth and laughter along with sunshine, blue sky, flowers, grass and the singing of birds. The material is transformed into contemporary shapes and colors that symbolize the growth of Nanshijiao in Zhonghe, a modern satellite city of Greater Taipei.

"Youth Melody" is a work of installation art. Thick plexiglas and epoxy resin are used to make the colors and form the shapes. The whole space becomes this work's melody, whose tone is light, joyful and playful.

Transit Tune

Opening Wings, Flying, Big Bird, Clever, Agile, Orange, Blue, Colorful Clothes

Youth Melody

Migratory Birds, Moving, Standing, Historical Poetry, Melody, Youth

Wind Turn

Freedom, Flowers, Air Flow, Drifting, Growth

Morning Dew

Grass, Swaying, Wind,
Bending, Not Snapping

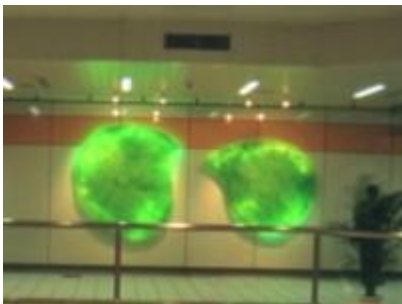

Song Burst

Sunshine, Flight, Red,
Passion, Giving, Love

Swaying Grass

Mixing, Motion, Molding,
Symbol, Speed

Plucking Flowers

Jumping, Water, Sweat,
Green,
Petal, Buddha

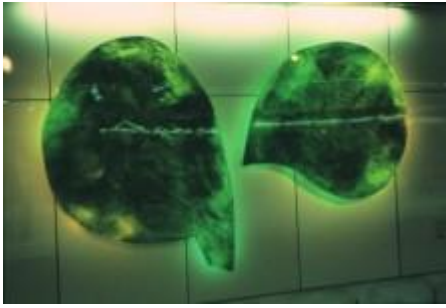

Mountain Light

Mountain Forest, Ridge,
Youth, Perseverance, Clear,
Bright

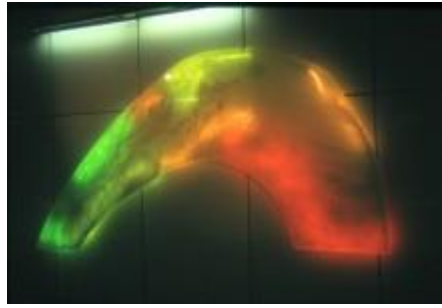

Sky Blue

Broadness, Blue Skies,
Expansion, Imagination,
Freedom, Possibility

Ruffling Grass

Clover Leaves, Wild Wind,
Ruffled Grass, Emerald
Green, Bloom

Water Color

Island, Shimmering, Rainbow,
The Color of Water

Cloud Shadow

Sky, Clouds, Ground, Water